Debt in America: An Interactive Map

Credit can be a lifeline during emergencies and a bridge to education and homeownership. But debt, which can stem from credit or unpaid bills, often burdens families and communities and exacerbates wealth inequality. This map shows the geography of debt in America at the national, state, and county levels. How does your community compare?

Characteristics of Payday Borrowers

• Only 14% have enough in their monthly budget to repay the average payday loan
• A mixture of unrealistic expectations and desperation drive borrowing, with borrowers expressing a desire to stay out of long-term debt and 37% saying they would take a loan on any terms.
• 41% of borrowers turn to the same option they could have used instead of a payday loan to pay it off – such as help from a family member or selling a personal possession. One in six uses a tax refund.
• By a 3-to-1 margin, payday borrowers support more regulation.

Indiana Payday Loan Re-borrowing Rates

82 percent of payday loan borrowers borrow another loan within 30 days of paying off the first. That initial loan, intended to be a short-term cover for financial shortfall, can easily become a long-term financial burden.

Loan Flipping

The example assumes that 1) the borrower refinanced the loan three times, each time after making the second payment; and 2) the borrower did not obtain any new money upon refinancing, but simply refinanced the remaining balance each time so that it would be repayable over six months. The result of the three refinancings is an increase in the repayment period from 6 months to 12 months.

“...bank payday loan borrowers represented 8% of all eligible account holders but incurred 40% of debits by likely payday lenders—showing that bank payday loans were not rescuing bank customers from nonbank payday loans.

More globally, bank payday lending was not shown to have reduced nonbank payday lending...[there is no evidence that bank payday loan] volume drove down the cost or volume of nonbank payday lending, rather than adding to already unsustainable debt burdens and compounding substantial injury.”  – Comment on Proposed Recission of Ability to Repay
States Implementing Rate Caps

- People use a variety of strategies to manage their finances, including negotiating with current creditors, borrowing from family and friends, and using pawn shops or traditional credit products like credit cards.
  - Arkansas borrower: “I found that I really could do without them. I work terms with my creditors. They are willing to accept something from you. I have actually paid off debts by a little at a time. I keep more money in the home and not having to pay back loans that triple the amount borrowed.”
North Carolina After Payday Lending

- Nearly nine out of ten low & moderate-income households thought payday lending was a bad thing
- Researchers concluded “no significant impact on availability of credit”
- Finance companies increased small dollar lending at 36%
- Survey respondents who experienced a financial shortfall after payday lending was no longer available used a variety of options to address them.
